

Dear Q&A

I've heard there is a new international compliance standard recently issued – how is it different from the previous compliance standard?

Answer

With a new 2021 compliance standard issued (ISO 37301:2021), the previous compliance standard is no longer in force (ISO 19600:2014).

The main difference between the two standards is that ISO 19600 provides recommendations, while ISO 37301 provides requirements for compliance management system implementation.

The IIA-Australia has issued two Factsheets with information on the new compliance standard:

- › Compliance Program
- › Compliance Management Systems

The IIA-Australia has also issued a series of compliance-related White Papers:
